

BIOGRAPHY

Sara Houlihan, PT, DPT is a clinical specialist physical therapist at Michigan Medicine at the University of Michigan for the past 8 years. Her specialty areas include emergency medicine, general medicine and oncology. Sara is involved in multidisciplinary programming including advancing the role of physical therapists in the emergency department and providing comprehensive care to patients with cancer. Sara spearheaded a project to provide training to emergency medicine residents and now designs and coordinates the quarterly training programs. She has presented at the Michigan Physical Therapy Association fall conference in 2017 and displayed a poster at the American Physical Therapy Association Combined Sections Meeting in 2017 regarding physical therapists in the emergency department. Sara has also published an article regarding a nurse-driven mobility algorithm for general medicine patients in the Journal of Acute Care Physical Therapy.